SAINT JOHN COLLEGE

I Like the Dreams of the Future Better Than the History of the Past

– Thomas Jefferson

TO THE CLASS OF JUNE, 1974:

Your senior year will long be remembered as the year our form of government withstood the challenge of the century. As graduating seniors you, too, must meet the challenge of society. In your quest for success remember that every man, by consenting with others to form a government, puts himself under an obligation to everyone in that society to submit to the determination of the feeling of the majority. This principle was first and foremost in the keen minds of the framers of the Declaration of Independence.

Our desire is that each of you experience life in its fullest, and our best wishes go with you.

John Marshall's English department, serving an interest and ability levels, offers students a wide variety of courses from extended studies in world, American and English literature, to short, in depth views of life and literature available as mini-courses.

Academic Challenge teams have consistently brought honors to John Marshall. In 1973, Ann Cibula, John Heilman, and Robert Kessler reached the quarter final round. In doing so, they not only brought acclaim to the school, but also won a prize of books and a trophy for JMH. The 1974 team looks forward to even greater success.

Throughout the ages, man has recognized and encouraged those who excel by establishing for them special honors. In modern times, election into the National Honor Society by the secondary school faculty honors students for their attainments already made in Leadership, Character, Scholarship and Service.

Chemistry And Physics

Concepts such as the chemical bond, the structure of matter and the matter-energy relationships, the periodicity of the chemical elements, the mole concept, equilibrium and chemical notation are the framework of Chemistry. Descriptive Chemistry is treated either as an out-growth of these concepts or as the point of entry.

Physics experiments utilize such up to date equipment as air tables, Polaroid cameras, strobe light and photoelectric counters. Physics is a quatitative study of physical phenomena such as forces, energy and atomic structure. Experiments, movies, and film loops are used quite extensively.

Biology

Microscope work, dissection, and quantitative experiments are the main areas covered during Biology laboratory periods. The chemistry and structure of cells, higher plants and animals, and finally evolution and ecology are considered in Biology classes.

Mathematics

John Marshall has three Mathematics programs. A student taking Vocational studies can select either Shop or Business Mathematics. Honor students take Geometry, Algebra 11, Trigonometry and Advanced Math one year earlier, and may then take Advanced Placement Calculus in their senior year. Regular college bound students take the above in the assigned grade.

Music

John Marshall students have a variety of musical opportunities to enjoy. Interested students may participate in the Mixed Chorus or Girls' Glee Club. Students may also join Choir or Marsh-mellos, if accepted. Students involved in instrumental music have the opportunity to select Cadet Band or Orchestra, Marching and Concert Band and Stage Band are offered to advanced instrumentalists.

Instrumentalists from John Marshall were selected to participate in the All-Ohio Boy's Band and All-Ohio Youth Symphony in 1973; both of these are sponsored by the Ohio State Fair and are directed by Mr. Blackman.

Language

John Marshall is very fortunate in having an outstanding and large foreign language department offering French, Spanish and German.

To supplement regular classroom instruction, students may use a language laboratory where occasionally classes meet and listen to exercises which correspond to their textbooks.

Each language department has its own Honor Society that requires a high academic standard for membership.

Guidance

The essence of the Guidance and Counseling Services Office is oriented to the individual student and his individual needs. Principally, the aim of the Guidance Counselors is to help the students organize their interests and aptitudes into challenging and attainable educational and vocational goals. This task embraces such basic functions as testing, career counseling, course selection counseling, and personal counseling, which should lead to a diploma and either military service, college admission, or vocational job placement.

Library

Over the years the library has assumed more and more the responsibility of augmenting the school's curricula by supplementing the teacher's courses with additional materials.

More and more we are going into the audio-visual field while still maintaining an impressive collection of books, magazines, pamphlets, and pictures. We will truly become a learning center and hopefully the very heart of the school with the plan to combine the book and audio-visual collection into one unit.

Social Studies

The teachers in the Social Studies department at John Marshall recognize that it is their duty and obligation to provide students with the type of opportunities which would enable them to reach their maximum potential. Effort was expanded to keep our program up to date and it is changed to meet the national trend when necessary.

It is the most sincere hope, that the department provided the student body with a most productive and satisfying experience.

Art

The John Marshall Art Department strives to develop the art student's talent and ability to their maximum level. The Art I and Art II classes cover the ground work. The basics in drawing, design, and composition are stressed so that a thorough foundation is established for a mastery in the various art techniques. The Commercial Art and the Advanced Art courses build toward the professional approach in techniques, experimentation, and creativity.

Distributive Education

The Distributive Education Retail program is designed for high school seniors who have a career objective in the field of marketing – that segment of the business community engaged in the distributing and merchandising of goods and services. The program combines in-school instruction and coordinated on-the-job work experience in preparation for students in occupations that provide experiences in selling, sales promotion, buying, and/or store operation.

The Diversified Cooperative Training Program is designed to provide vocational training in technical areas for boys and girls usually during their senior year. The students go to school half day and work at a related Training Station the rest of the day.

The Grapplers

The John Marshall Wrestling teams have dominated the West Senate and City Championships over the years, as they have won the championship five out of the last six years.

The starting of a Junior High wrestling program in the area has assured Marshall of maintaining its high respect in the area.

Over the past 22 years Marshall's wrestling teams have won 192, lost 227, and tied 2. They have had 13 undefeated seasons, won numerous Senate, West Senate, Sectional, and district championships, won the State Champion in 1961 and placed in the top five, four other times.

Marshall has had 12 individual state champions as well as many place winners. Twenty-two former Marshall wrestlers have gone into coaching.

Track – 1973

Having contributed to a successful campaign in 1973, members of the track team in the class of '74 have good reason to look forward to their senior season. 1973 was a championship and record-breaking year for the Lawyer cindermen.

For the ninth time in 14 years, Marshall won the West Senate Outdoor Championship Meet. The lawyers also added the West Senate indoor title and captured runner-up honors in the Sectional Meet and at the Bay Village Relays. Marshall was the only school in the entire field at the West Tech Relays to place in every running event.

1973 was a rebuilding year for the Marshall Cross Country Team. Captain Jim Thompson was the only returning letterman who had been one of the top five runners on the team that had won the Senate (City) Championship in 1972. By the end of the season, the top runners on the '73 squad were seniors Thompson, Scott Forrester, Tim McGinty, and Nick Wolf, and juniors Drew Coy, John Eaton, Larry Kinkopf, Bob Dolan, Ed Higginbotham, and Darrell Quinn.

Gymnastic Opportunities

At John Marshall, the girls are given the chance to actively participate in a wide variety of activities. The gymnasium is fully equipped with facilities for fencing, swimming, diving, tennis, track, badminton, and many other sports. Girls can take advantage of these opportunities during school as well as before and after school.

There is also interscholastic and intramural competition. This gives the girls a chance to exhibit their skills and give them the experience of competing with others.

Girls' Sports

Miss Beebe and Miss Brown conduct one of the best Girls' Physical Education Departments in the city – and their record proves it! Without the anxious participation of the girls and the outstanding leadership and influence of our gym teachers, this would be impossible.

Each year more and more girls get involved in the extra-curricular activities that the Department offers. The Gym Leaders' Club, volleyball, and basketball are just a few. They enable the girls to enhance and put their skill and coordination to good use, while helping others to do the same.

The girls have a lot of fun, and, at the same time, develop their skills and character toward a well-rounded personality.

Vocal Music

The Mixed Chorus, The Girl's Glee Club, The Marsh-Mellos and the Concert Chrous are open to all interested students at John Marshall. As a sophomore, the student begins in the Mixed Chorus or Girl's Glee Club. At the end of the year, auditions are held for Choir and Marsh-Mello perpestives. The students called back from these auditions will be in Choir next year. The Marsh-Mellos are then chosen from the Choir by the quality of the student's blending voice.

The entire department performs twice a year: at Christmas time and during the Spring. Also, the Choir performs at the Commencement exercises.

The Vocal Department has been acclaimed throughout the State with over fifteen members in the All-City Choir, and outstanding representation in the All-Ohio Youth Choir. The Vocal Department owes many thanks to the director, Miss Mary E. Fogarty.

Midwinter Band Concert

The Midwinter Band Concert featured a variety of music played by the various outstanding JMH bands.

The Dixieland Band, dressed in suspenders and straw hats carried the audience back to New Orleans with their ragtime music.

The Stage Band played selections ranging from the JMH fight song to rock numbers.

The Concert Band played a medley of Dr. Dolittle songs.

The Symphonic Band concluded the concert with a lively rhythm number.

Spring Concert

One of the annual musical highlights at John Marshall is the Spring Parade. May 11, 1973 was no exception. Appearing at this concert was the Symphony Orchestra as well as the Symphonic, Stage, and combined Concert and Cadet Bands.

As is the custom, the music performed represented a variety of periods and style . . . from Baroque to Rock. Enthusiastic applause demonstrated audience approval of Nicolia's Merry Wives of Windsor and Rossini's Italian in Algiers Overture. Also heard were the familiar strains from the hit shows, "My Fair Lady," "Oliver", and "Paint Your Wagon".

D

A The melodic sound of the French Horn adds harmony to the concert.

B The combined Cadet and Concert Bands under the direction of Mr. Omar Blackman enthusiastically played such numbers as hit strains from "Oliver".

C Top hits played by the Symphonic Band left the audience humming all the way home.

D Lawrence Welk has nothing on Mr. George Wishneskey as he conducts the JMH Symphony Orchestra to a hit performance at the concert.

Marching Band – 1973

The Marching Band begins the school year each August with two weeks of solid, exhausting, daily rehearsals in preparation for the colorful half-time football pageantry which follows in September.

Except for occasional local parade appearances the Marching Band concludes its 9 or 10 games scheduled, and returns once again to the concert hall in the form of the Symphonic Band.

The John Marshall Color Guard is one of the highest spirited precision teams in our school today. This fine unit is composed of eight regulars and two alternates.

Their colorful and dignified pre-game appearance at each football game is always a spectacle to behold. Their precise and flashy gun twirling at half-time provide unmeasured entertainment for football and basketball fans alike.

The Oompah Dolls, now enjoying their fifth year of providing important bass music for the Marching and Symphonic Band, have acquired many faithful followers. "This unusual section of the band is most unique", states their director, Mr. Blackman, "since it is probably the only all-girl tuba section in the country."

Homecoming 1973

One of the biggest events of the school year is Homecoming. Homecoming is sponsored by the Cheerleaders and includes the crowning of an elected queen and a dance.

Two groups of girls behind all our teams are the Cheerleades and Lawyerettes. Both groups perform at football games, basketball games and rallies.

J Senior Cheerleader Linda Kegg enthusiastically cheers on.

Student Council Sponsored Dances

Student Council, throughout the school year, sponsor dances. Each dance is on a special theme. Three dances which Student Council has sponsored during the past year were:

Kick-Off Dance which opens up the school year. The dance is after a home football game, with a top named band.

Root-Beer-n-Nuts Party brings you back to the ties of sock and record hops, bobbie socks, saddle shoes, ponytails, and red lipstick.

Sadie Hawkins Dance is a turn about dance. Girl ask boy! The couples can get married and divorced in the same night.

Student council

Student Council plays an important role in school activities. It gets the students involved in school matters that take place in and around school.

Throughout the school year Student Council sponsors rallies and dances for the students to attend. This year there were rallies for every varsity sport and for the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. The Kick-Off Dance, Winter Formal and a Spring Rock Concert were sponsored by the JMH Student Council.

Student Council also keeps the entire student body and faculty informed about upcoming events which involve students as well as faculty members in harmony.

Extra Activities

Open House gives parents the opportunity of meeting teachers and experiencing class routine.

The PTA sends out newsletters to families of the community to inform them of the happenings here at John Marshall. They also award a PTA Scholarship at the end of the year.

John Marshall has a fine office staff. These women offer a multitude of help, and keep records and files straight.

JTL, an organization managed by Mr. Jecman, is for those students who are interested in drama. They sell tickets, make sets, and do all the promotion work for school and community plays.

Clubs

John Marshall has a number of fine clubs and groups to interest the student body. Servettes, Tomanic, and Key Club are just a few of these groups.

Miss Henry's Servettes group consists of about 50 girls who earn service points for the various activities they perform in and out of school, such as ushering and serving refreshments.

Mr. Cozzone is advisor of some 30 members of the Key Club. They help at school functions by checking coats, parking cars at the After Prom, and directing traffic in the parking lot.

The Tomanic club sponsors the food and toy drives at Christmas time. They have homeroom help prepare a Christmas basket full of food for a needy family in the Marshall area.

Ski and Intramural Clubs

The John Marshall Ski Club heads for Brandywine on a bus every Wednesday for six weeks, thinking snow, ski, and fun! The skiers are on the bus for one hour and on the slopes for three. Beginners can take lessons at Brandywine, included in the initial fee. Highlights include a trip to Cochaigne at the end of the ski season. THINK SNOW!!

This year a new program was instituted by the athletic department, in the form of intramural clubs. On Monday mornings, avid ping pong players participate in Ping Pong Intramurals. On Thursday mornings, the checker champs choose their colors and fight to the finish.

A Steve Suzo and Wiley Campbell battle to an exciting finish in the Ping Pong Intramurals.

B Concentration is the name of the game as Vanessa Harris gets set to beat her opponent.

C, D Checkers, Checkers, and more checkers! The Checker Intramurals meet on Thursday with participants Karen Verbiak, Rose Walsh, Kathy Walsh, Sylvia Vrbak, Marilyn Losh, and Diane Schlegelimilch.

Lunchroom

One of the more popular rooms in John Marshall is the lunchroom. Four periods a day the lunchroom is filled with students socializing, discussing schoolwork, and eating!

The Timer's Club

A group of girls that keep the times and statistics at swim meets is The Timer's Club. The purpose of this club is to run the home meets and provide a cheering section for the swimmers at away meets. The Timer's Club was chartered in 1972. They have sponored car washes, bake sales, and pool parties. It can be truly said that the Timers make the swim meets tick.

The Interpreter

Under the guidance of Mr. Richard Nielson, THE INTERPRETER is published 14-18 times yearly. It is the original product of the students of Journalism II.

THE INTERPRETER has won many awards for its outstanding quality. Among these awards are: a medalist rating from Columbia University, which placed The INTERPRETER in the upper 10% of the best High School newspapers in the country; they won THE CLEVELAND PRESS Award at St. Bonaventure in New York for the best High School newspaper submitted from Ohio; they also were awarded a plaque for the best High School newspaper in the Midwest.

THE INTERPRETER writers have also won many individual awards from NOSPA at Kent State, THE CLEVELAND PRESS, St. Bonaventure, and Columbia University.

A Printing pictures for an upcoming issue is Chief Photographer Dana Smith. INTERPRETER photographers develop and print all their pictures in the third floor darkroom.

B Editors Sue Piribek and Donna Thapy prepare a football copy for the sport's page.

C The journalism staff watches and listens as Mr. Nielson demostrates different layouts from other papers. An exchange program is set up so that THE INTERPRETER is sent out in exchange for papers from other colleges and high schools.

D The idea session is for editors who need new story possibilities for their pages. Mr. Nielson explains ways to handle a story to the staff.

E The JMH Marching Band receives coverage from Mike Gumbish and Sue Arens, Center Spread Editors.

Critics Rave About Mame

Rave newspaper reviews and 2,500 people acclaimed the musical MAME as one of the best musicals produced by the Cleveland Community Center Theatre.

Featured in the show were faculty members, student, alumni, and members of the community, along with area semi-professionals. Faculty members in prominent parts included: Miss McCarthy, Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Bienia, and Mr. Perez. The play starred Marge Spellacy, well known Cleveland actress and singer who played Dolly several seasons ago. The show was produced and directed by Mr. David Jecmen, head of speech and theatre, while Mr. Omar Blackman conducted the orchestra. The play was presented March 2, 3, 9, 10, 1973.

Count Dracula Resurrected

DRACULA, the classic tale of horror, was resurrected by the Drama Department in late spring of last year. Rolling fog, tombs, and the proper chilling effects characterized the "camp" piece of fiction. Featured in the cast were Dan Recchio as the indestructable Count along with Dave Botson and Terry O'Reilly.

A series of One*Acts were presented in the Little Theatre during the same week. The plays were student directed and featured playwrights Thornton Wilder, Tennessee Williams and William Inge.

Applause

Cleveland Community Center Theatre's production of APPLAUSE was a Cleveland premiere in December at John Marshall.

APPLAUSE, based on the movie, "All About Eve" featured Betty Blaksee, drama teacher from Berea High School, Mr. David Jecman, Marshall's drama coach, and Mrs. Basille, former Marshall English teacher, along with Marshall alumni, faculty, and students.

Rock music highlighted the production as dancers rocked to psychedelic flashes of lights. The dancers danced on tables as well as on the stage.

The play was presented November 30, and December 1, 7, and 8.

Fiddler On The Roof

Fiddler on the Roof, the world's most acclaimed musical and Broadway's longest running hit was performed by the Theatre and Music Department for four performances in February.

Seniors in featured roles included Dan Recchio, Ruth Matyas, Bruce Holloway, John Savage, Charlie Seighman, Pam Pelger, Rich Schneider, and Janet Cole.

The production was directed by John Marshall drama instructor, David Jecmen, while Miss Mary Eileen Fogarty and Mr. George Wisneskey were in charge of the music.

Matinees included sell-outs from local elementary and junior high schools.

The Vanguard Staff

The 1974 Vanguard Staff ultimately comprised twelve hardworking Marshallettes who as per usual encountered many difficulties as the deadline approached.

The knowledge acquired and priceless experience will be enjoyed in future involvements either in college areas or in the business world.

A Charles Seighman was Advertising Editor and responsible for more monies collected than any previous Advertising Editor. Charlie also assisted with typing and "blurbs" in other sections as well as billing and tabulating all the monies collected.

B Mary Jane Davis who has worked on the '73 and '74 Yearbooks is now editor of the '75 Vanguard. Mary Jane not only was Editor of the Sports section – both Boy's Athletics and Girls's Sports, but also assisted proofreading, typing, and did layouts for every section other than the Editors. When Carla was ill, Mary Jane took over the chores.

C Carla Christopher – Editor of the '74 Vanguard, not only was responsible for the opening section but made the necessary corrections on all pages, proofreading, rechecking pages and pictures, and tabulating the pages sent. She has also trained Mary Jane to follow in her footsteps.

The Vanguard Staff

We of the Vanguard Staff, wish to express our thanks to the following people for their early '73 assistance: Cathy Cutlip and Darlene Murin for Ads acquired over the summer; Dan Litty for helping with Boys' Sports; Carol Croyle for considerable and necessary typing and Martha Fishman who was unable to participate in September due to schedule and work commitments.

We especially want to thank Miss Dolores Luckay, our Advisor, and Mr. Ray Vladar of the Western Publishing Company, for giving their time and assistance to make our Yearbook possible.

A Robin Devorak assisted Sue Campbell in arranging and checking the Senior Pictures. She also worked on several other sections. Robin will be assisting Mary Jane with the '75 Yearbook.

B Debby Roshetko was responsible for layouts and typing done in some of the Activities Section.

C Bonnie Spitznagel was responsible for the entire Senior Activities section, making all necessary corrections and additions. She also assisted with much typing and obtained picture identifications.

D Elaine Asimakis assisted with Girls' Sports by arranging for pictures and making layouts. She also did considerable typing, resumes and layouts for the Editors.

E Sue Campbell, Editor of the Senior Section, was responsible for making layouts and charting names for all the Senior Pictures in her section.

F Cyndi Briggs assisted in the Activities Section and did considerable typing.

G Nancy Frey assisted with the Activities Section.

H Nancy Moran assisted with the Activities Section and typed many resumes in all sections.

J Barb Adams, Faculty and Academic Editor, was responsible for making several layouts, cropping pictures and getting the necessary identifications.
